

WELCOME TO THE UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN-MADISON'S WRITING ACROSS THE CURRICULUM PROGRAM

for faculty, instructional academic staff, and teaching assistants

OUR PROGRAM

The university's program in Writing Across the Curriculum (WAC) is eager to help you think about effective and creative ways to incorporate writing and speaking assignments into your courses at all levels and in all disciplines. We offer one-on-one consultations, multiple WAC workshops, and instructional resources with plenty of advice and examples of successful writing and speaking assignments drawn from courses across UW-Madison.

RESOURCES

As your course unfolds, you may face challenges and want advice and materials. We'd be glad to help! If you would like to discuss ways to customize these materials and pedagogical strategies, we would be happy to consult with you—either individually or as a group of instructors for the same course.

Instructional Materials

Custom Workshops

One-on-One Consultations

WE CAN HELP YOU WITH . . .

COACHING

students to succeed with writing assignments

EXPANDING

your repertoire of writing and speaking assignments

WORKING

with the Writing Center and Writing Fellows

RESPONDING TO AND EVALUATING

student writing and speaking effectively and efficiently

SOLVING

teaching challenges

REDUCING

the risk of plagiarism

DESIGNING

writing and speaking assignments

CLARIFYING

your expectations for assignments and communicating these expectations to students

DEVELOPING

Communication-B and Writing Intensive Courses

. . . AND MORE!

VISIT OUR WEBSITE TO LEARN MORE:

writing.wisc.edu/wac

FOR MORE INFORMATION, PLEASE CONTACT:

Emily Hall, ebhall@wisc.edu
Director, Undergraduate Writing Fellows Program
Interim Director, Writing Across the Curriculum
6163 Helen C. White
600 North Park St.

Jon Isaac, isaac3@wisc.edu
Assistant Director, Writing Across the Curriculum
Helen C. White Hall
600 North Park St.